Arco : Arco Master the GMAT CAT 2003 (With CD-ROM) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Arco Master the GMAT CAT 2003 (With CD-ROM):

On 3 practice tests, Arco gave me a score range of 640-660. Kaplan tests were 530, 560, 590. ETS official practice test was 660. Official real GMAT score... 650. ARCO was right on the money as to where I stood.. Kaplan was WAY OFF. The CD contains 6 practice tests, in my opinion about half of what you need to practice for the real thing. The layout of the screen is almost identical to the real thing. The only problem I found was that when doing long passage reading in the verbal section, you can't scroll one line at a time... you push the down arrow and it JUMPS way down. Sometimes you have to play around with it to be able to read all the words... all of which cost you valuable time. The book was very good for learning sentence correction techniques as well as math practice. All in all, the combo of the book and CD was very good, but I would recommend grabbing either the Kaplan or Princeton Review CD as well. 6 Practice tests with Arco, 4 with Kaplan , and 2 from the official ETS... that's just about right. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Not RecommendedBy A CustomerThe book has too much material, which mostly is useless. 592 pages of boring and exhausting suggestions that lead to nothing except somewhat improved ability to handle lengthy boring passages. Perhaps not completely bad after all :-). The tests are too easy, esp math - I used to get the max. Makes you confident for a few minutes until Kaplan hands you your fanny with 600 written all over it. Verbal is not close to the Real GMAT. CR is screwed up - the logic does not go the right direction and several of my friends agree with me, it is not just me; SC is not focused on the style but rather on the grammar portion, which is not tested as strongly on the GMAT. And yes, the software is not something to be happy about. If you used this book and found it helpful, I will be very interested to hear about it.- Bogdan.
