Bernard Oldsey : British Novelists, 1930-1959 (Dictionary of Literary Biography, Pts 12, Vol 15) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised British Novelists, 1930-1959 (Dictionary of Literary Biography, Pts 12, Vol 15):

Writing during one of the most volatile periods in British history -- a time that encompassed a worldwide economic depression, World War II, and the economic and political decline of the British Empire -- the novelists featured in this volume produced some of the most memorable fiction in the history of British literature. Novelists of the period 1930-1959 held true to the path established by such writers as Austen, Dickens, Lawrence and Conrad. They displayed the particularly British characteristics of a lack of innovation, a distaste for literary abstraction, a constant interest in the interaction of individuals within their society, and a sense of historical continuity. 59 entries include: Kingsley Amis, Samuel Beckett, William Golding, Graham Greene, Christopher Isherwood, Doris Lessing, George Orwell, Anthony Powell, V.S. Pritchett, Muriel Spark, J.R.R. Tolkien and Evelyn Waugh.
